

One ACME Heart

Topher Gayle & Janet Lenore McCallister

You ran away so fast I hardly saw you go
You left me staring in the middle of the street
My heart, it broke and done shattered on the road
You left me with your sweet “beep beep beep”

The ACME catalog has got some nifty stuff
It's got anvils, dynamite, and rocket cars
On page sixty-three was just the thing for me
Beside the giant slingshot was one ACME heart

CHORUS

One ACME heart to replace the one I gave you
One ACME heart to replace the one that's gone
But they just don't make those hearts the way that they used to
So I keep wearing out these poor old ACME hearts

I ordered one, I tried it on. But it felt kinda small
I sent it back, but the next was missing parts
By now truth to tell, I must have tried them all
But I keep ordering those doggone ACME hearts

I keep scheming of the ways that I might catch you
I keep dreaming of the day our love could spark
But no matter how clever or how wily I can be
You keep running past my poor old ACME heart

CHORUS

Roadrunner – This coyote's after you
Roadrunner – 'Til he catches you, he's blue
One ACME Heart
